NEW JERSEY
STATE BAND GALA
2017

SUNDAY, APRIL 30, 2017
KENDALL HALL
THE COLLEGE OF NEW JERSEY
EWING, NJ

WELCOME...!

On behalf of the Executive Board of the New Jersey Band Association, please allow me to welcome you to the 2017 New Jersey Band Association Concert Band Gala. We are honored to host this prestigious event. The annual Gala concerts are, in many ways, the culmination of months of hard work for the young musicians you'll see and hear on stage today. You will be amazed by the mature, well-prepared performances you will hear.

The State Gala concerts would not be possible without the hard work of The College of New Jersey's staff and students as well as John Peter Holly (Association of New Jersey Orchestras). Their efforts to produce these concerts display just how dedicated they are to advancing concert bands in New Jersey. We would also like to thank TCNJ for the use of their outstanding facilities!

It is also important to thank all of the school administrators associated with these performing groups. The support that school administrators provide is invaluable and we hope they will continue to help young musicians and students involved in all of the arts to realize their dreams.

The NJBA also thanks the parents of these wonderfully talented young people. Music teaches students things that no other subject can offer. Please know that the many hours of rehearsals, lessons, sectionals, and practice time in which you support your children will help them to become more dedicated, loyal, and successful adults no matter what profession they eventually choose for themselves.

Finally, the New Jersey Band Association needs to thank the talented, dedicated conductors of the bands on stage today. The time and effort you give to your students is far above and beyond the call of duty. We honor and respect all of your efforts on behalf of your students.

Enjoy the concerts!

Respectfully,

Dr. David Vickerman

NEW JERSEY STATE BAND GALA

The New Jersey State Band Gala Concert is an annual educational activity that serves more than 750 instrumental music students from New Jersey's public high schools in a day-long series of performances.

The Gala Concert is the culmination of a larger, statewide educational program, the New Jersey State Band Festival, which encourages the participation of every high school band in the state. The twelve high school bands that perform in the Gala Concert are chosen through a series of three competitive preliminary rounds in three regions of the state: north, central and south. Each year, more than 150 high school bands from all over New Jersey participate in the preliminary rounds of the New Jersey Band Festival. Because of the high degree of preparation and practice that each band and its individuals members devote to this activity, the New Jersey Band Festival fosters personal growth and achievement for nearly 10,000 music students in New Jersey each year.

In years past, a very small proportion of New Jersey music ensembles were capable of more than a moderate level of achievement when compared to ensembles from other parts of the country. However, since the inauguration of the state-wide festival, the level has improved dramatically. Currently ensembles from the State travel to competitions throughout the United States and often to Europe and return with outstanding success. Such success can be directly attributable in part to the statewide band festival and the culminating annual Gala Concert. The Gala has become the foremost musical goal of bands in the State of New Jersey.

Now in its 35th season, the New Jersey State Band Festival was established in 1983 by Dr. William H. Silvester, then Director of Bands at The College of New Jersey, who served as the festival's administrator for 15 years. In 1998, after fifteen years of operation, a new, expanded organization was developed under the direction of Darryl J. Bott at Rutgers University.

With the establishment of the New Jersey Band Association (NJBA) in 2006, it was decided that the New Jersey State Band Gala Concerts would take place under the sponsorship of the newly-formed association. This year, the administration of the Gala is under the direction of Dr. David Vickerman, Director of Bands at TCNJ and Chair of the NJBA.

Since the inception of the Gala, the number of music students staying within the state to study music on the college level has been remarkable. The road to the Gala has been a significant incentive for high school-age students to become involved in music and many of them see the benefits of staying in-state to study. In turn, the music education graduates of our state colleges are entering the field with higher goals and expectations, and are helping to continue to raise the level of music in New Jersey's schools.
